Class of works: I am writing in support of Class #1 (Copy-Protected CDs): Sound recordings released on compact disc ("CDs") that are protected by technological protection measures that malfunction so as to prevent access on certain playback devices.

Summary:

Disc name: Enya - don't remember specific title

I purchased this CD from my local K-mart because the copy protected CD was the only type of CD available for this artist. I bought it with the hope that I would be able to play it on my computer anyway.

I do not have any other CD player in my home and I really like this artist. I listen to other CDs on my computers. However, unfortunately this one did not play on any of my machines at home. Since I did not have any other way of listening to this CD I returned it. Fortunately, they took it back, but the waste of my time --- and more importantly, my not being allowed to purchase this title due to my not wanting to invest in their proprietary technology (my drives work just fine for everything else) --- I am not allowed to listen to one of my favorite artists. By exempting these CDs from the DMCA, I would once again be allowed to listen to the music I like.
